

Sociolinguistic Concepts

1. _____ native varieties
 2. _____ nativised varieties
 3. _____ linguistic prejudice
 4. _____ lingua franca
 5. _____ bilingualism
 6. _____ first language (L1)
 7. _____ second language (L2)
 8. _____ shifting L1
 9. _____ identity-communication continuum
- A. the common language used by people of different language backgrounds to communicate with each other
 - B. standard varieties are better suited for communication while informal varieties are better suited for showing identity
 - C. when one speaks a second language better than a first language
 - D. to have linguistic and communicative competence in two or more languages
 - E. traditional varieties that have been around for a long time and have influenced younger varieties of English
 - F. to have a preference for particular varieties over others; to believe that one dialect sounds more or less intelligent than others
 - G. newer varieties of English that have developed in places where English was not originally spoken and which have been influenced by local languages and cultures
 - H. the language a speaker is most proficient in (and not necessarily that the language the speaker learned first)
 - I. a language that is not the speaker's L1